

VISTA CONTROLS

One of the four “tilt-up” shell buildings built for Intertex, this site was bought by Vista Controls, a company that produces systems for the aerospace community. Extensive interior design was required. Combs + Miguel worked on a comprehensive design that boasted an impressive engineering and manufacturing space as well as spacious offices. The lobby is a considerable and hospitable place, encompassing an open two-story area. The building now offers an efficient workspace while also making its employees and customers feel welcome.
